Walking over the Buried Escarpment

The 90 minute hike will explore a section of the Niagara Escarpment that is ripe with caves, caverns, country side vistas and the always intriguing “freedom rock”. This section of the Niagara Escarpment is unusual to the as the escarpment’s familiar rocky heights are often nowhere in sight. The dramatic cliffscapes to the north and south are buried under deep glacial deposits, prompting geologists to refer to this section as “the buried escarpment”.
